Australian Aviation Wildlife Hazard Group Workshop 2019

‘Working Together for Aviation Safety’

23 & 24 July 2019

Sydney International Airport

Kingsford Smith Suite

PROGRAM

Welcome to the AAWHG Workshop 2019

WELCOME FROM AAWHG CHAIR

The AAWHG Workshop 2019 aims to bring all sectors of the aviation industry together to discuss, develop and implement effective wildlife strike management measures.

This year's workshop has been designed to get your input into reviewing, updating or developing the industry recommended practices.

It also provides case studies and the latest in research and products.

It's a perfect opportunity to catch up, swap ideas and see what is happening in other parts of the industry.

We'll also have a social networking function on Tuesday night, 23 July, on the rooftop of the Rydges Bar and Hotel, providing an opportunity to catch up in a relaxed atmosphere with a spectacular view of Sydney Airport.

The AAWHG Committee would like to acknowledge and thank our sponsors whose valuable support for, and contribution to, this workshop and our industry cannot be overlooked—we thank you!

On behalf of the AAWHG Committee and our partners we look forward to seeing at the 2019 AAWHG workshop in Sydney.

Jackson Ring
AAWHG Chair

AUSTRALIAN AVIATION WILDLIFE HAZARD GROUP

The Australian Aviation Bird and Animal Hazard Working Group originated from a meeting between the Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA), the Australian Transport Safety Bureau (ATSB) and the Australasian Aviation Ground Safety Council (AAGSC) in May 2003. This meeting agreed that a national group was required in order to address aviation wildlife hazard safety issues. Since 2003, the group has met regularly with an expanding membership which now includes multiple aviation industry stakeholders and organisations. Since its inception in 2003, the AAWHG has aimed to promote and advance aviation wildlife hazard management. In July 2010, the Secretary of the Department of Infrastructure formally recognised the AAWHG as the primary aviation wildlife hazard management reference body in Australia. The AAWHG fulfils Australia's commitment to have a national bird strike committee as recommended by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) under Document 9137 Part 3, Bird control and reduction.

LOCATION

Sydney Airport have kindly donated the use of the Kingsford Smith Suite for the workshop.

The Kingsford Smith Suite is located landside on level 3 of Sydney Airport International terminal T1, above WH Smith, booksellers.

The Australian Museum

The Australian Museum (AM), the nation's first museum, is a leading natural science and culture institution focused on Australia and the Pacific. Founded in 1827, it is the nation's foremost scientific research, educational and cultural research organisation. It is an internationally recognised museum, and is the custodian of more than 18 million objects, which underpin its outstanding public exhibitions and galleries. These objects also generate invaluable knowledge that assists in our understanding of Australia and the Pacific.

Through the Australian Museum Research Institute, the AM plays a leading role in understanding Australia's biodiversity, the environmental impacts of climate change, potential biosecurity pests and invasive species, which directly inform our understanding of wildlife conservation, and our knowledge of ancient and contemporary cultures.

It also plays a world-leading role in taxonomic and systematic research, including the use of wildlife genomics to investigate its collections, and through its research station at Lizard Island, contributes significantly to our understanding of coral reef ecology.
